

Summary Of Thesis

The study dealt with the personality of Mohamed Hafez Ramadan and his political role in Egypt (1904-1955) and it's of five units the first chapter is about his growing up education and his graduation from the faculty of law and the beginning of his practical life the second chapter is about his role in El Watany before he become a boss and his point of view about the problems happened in Elwatany the third chapter is about his role and stand about law and selections and his entrance in the board of agents 1926, 1931 and his membership in the board of elderly the fourth shaper is about his refusal of one of the principals of El Wantany a she participated in a government during the occupation and the problems appeared as a result and discussed his participation in the ministry and the fifth chapter talks about his point of view in the political cases and the most important one which was the occupation.