
Comparative anatomical studies on the ethmoid bone in human and canis(dogs)

Akram Mohamed El-Gindy

The ethmoid bone is one of the most complicated structures in the human body, and its anatomy is very complex. A brief review of the available literatures on this structure in man and dog is given.”: